For over forty years, Bolchazy-Carducci Publishers has worked to make the classics more accessible. With LUMINA, our new online interactive content, learners now have another way to practice and master the Latin language. LUMINA is now available for the time-tested self-teaching program Artes Latinae (p. 3) and as a supplement to Latin for the New Millennium, Levels 1 and 2 (p. 5).

New and forthcoming titles have an interdisciplinary focus that will appeal to a wide audience with diverse interests. The Latin of Science provides a historical survey of influential scientific texts written in Latin, ranging from the general knowledge selections of Pliny the Elder and Isidore of Seville to writings on optics from Alhazen and Newton (back page). A forthcoming companion volume contains English translations and additional scientific background for each selection. The entertaining and expansive quotation reference They Said It First pairs ancient Greek and Latin sayings with their modern counterparts (p. 3). Reading the Gospel of St. John in Greek: A Beginning empowers students to read and appreciate the Gospel of John and biblical Greek as a whole (p. 3). An Introduction to Greek Inscriptions makes epigraphy accessible to beginning Greek students while reinforcing vocabulary and grammar (p. 9). A facsimile edition of William Sanders Scarborough’s First Lessons in Greek (1881) makes available once again a groundbreaking textbook written by a nineteenth-century African American classicist and education innovator (p. 9). Check out other recent titles as well, including the latest additions to the Lectiones Memorabiles series (p. 6).
