

CONTENTS

FOREWORD . . . . .	. xi
PREFACE . . . . .	. xv
AUTHORS . . . . .	. xix
EDITORS, CONSULTANTS, AND PILOT TEACHER . . . . .	. xxii
INTRODUCTION . . . . .	. xxvi
CHAPTER 1 . . . . .	. 1
Reading: Bede, “About Britain”
Language Facts: First Conjugation Verbs: Present Active and Passive Subjunctive; The Subjunctive Mood; The Volitive and Optative Subjunctive; Present Subjunctive of Sum and Possum
Talking About a Reading: About the Origin of My Family
Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—The Family of Atticus
CHAPTER 2 . . . . .	. 17
Reading: Einhard, “About Charlemagne”
Language Facts: Second, Third, Fourth Conjugations and Third Conjugation – iō Verbs: Present Active and Passive Subjunctive; Place Where, Place to Which, and Place from Which with Names of Towns
Talking About a Reading: About a European Trip
Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—Atticus Excels in School
CHAPTER 3 . . . . .	. 33
Reading: Heloise to Abelard
Language Facts: Imperfect Active and Passive Subjunctive of All Conjugations; Purpose Clauses; Sequence of Tenses
Talking About a Reading: About Love
Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—Atticus Goes to Athens

© Bolchazy-Carducci Publishers, Inc.
www.BOLCHAZY.com

REVIEW 1: CHAPTERS 1–3 . . . . .	.49
Considering the Heroes of Classical Myth: Perseus, Heracles, Theseus, Jason
Connecting with the Post-Ancient World: The Orders of Medieval Society
Exploring Tragic Love Stories Through the Ages: Love and Longing by Lorina Quartarone, Associate Professor of Classics, The University of Saint     Thomas, St. Paul, Minnesota
Mirābile Auditū: Mottoes, Phrases, and Terms Relevant to the Political, Military, and Legal Worlds Now
CHAPTER 4 . . . . .	.69
Reading: William of Tyre, “Jerusalem Is Taken by the Frankish Soldiers”
Language Facts: Perfect and Pluperfect Active Subjunctive of All Conjugations; Perfect and Pluperfect Subjunctive of Sum and Possum ; Wishes for the Present and the Past; Indirect Questions; Sequence of Tenses
Talking About a Reading: About Trips to Faraway Places
Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—Atticus Helps the Athenians
CHAPTER 5 . . . . .	.89
Reading: Medieval Latin Poetry, “The Confession of Golia”
Language Facts: Perfect and Pluperfect Passive Subjunctive of All Conjugations; Indirect Command
Talking About a Reading: About the Joys of Life
Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—Atticus Honored in Athens
CHAPTER 6 . . . . .	105
Reading: Anonymous, “About the Emperor Theodosius”
Language Facts: Comparative and Superlative Adjectives; Comparative and Superlative -er Adjectives; Comparative and Superlative Adverbs; Ways of Expressing a Comparison
Talking About a Reading: About Modern Stories
Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—The Scholar and the Warlord
REVIEW 2: CHAPTERS 4–6 . . . . .	125
Considering the Heroes of Classical Myth: The Trojan War
Connecting with the Post-Ancient World: Universities in the Middle Ages
Exploring the Muslim Influence in Spain: Al-Andalus and the Mudejar Way of Life by Francis C. Oakley, Edward Dorr Griffin Professor of the History of     Ideas and President Emeritus, Williams College, Williamstown, Massachusetts
Mirābile Auditū: Mottoes, Phrases, and Terms Relevant to Christian Religion in Medieval Times and Now

CHAPTER 7 . . . . . 145

    Reading: Petrarch, “Francis Greets His Own Cicero”

    Language Facts: The Irregular Verbs Volō, Nōlō, and Mālō; Use of Volō, Nōlō, and Mālō; Negative Commands

    Talking About a Reading: About the Best Way of Life

    Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—Atticus Leaves Athens

CHAPTER 8 . . . . . 161

    Reading: Lorenzo Valla, “First Preface of the Elegances of the Latin Language”

    Language Facts: Irregular Comparatives and Superlatives; Quam with the Superlative of Adjectives and Adverbs; Deponent Verbs

    Talking About a Reading: About Latin and About Other Languages

    Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—Atticus and His Uncle

CHAPTER 9 . . . . . 191

    Reading: Erasmus, “Erasmus of Rotterdam Greets His English Friend William Mountjoy”

    Language Facts: The Irregular Verbs Ferō and Fīō; The Imperatives Dīc, Dūc, Fac, and Fer; Superlatives Ending in -limus

    Talking About a Reading: About an Ice Storm

    Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—The Friendship of Atticus and Cicero

REVIEW 3: CHAPTERS 7–9 . . . . . 209

    Considering the Heroes of Classical Myth: The Odyssey

    Connecting with the Post-Ancient World: The Renaissance

    Exploring Cicero’s Enduring Influence: Cicero, the Humanists, and the American Founding Fathers by Kirk Summers, Associate Professor of Classics, The University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, Alabama

    Mīrābile Audītū: Phrases and Terms Relevant to Expressions Used in Writing and Speaking Today

CHAPTER 10 . . . . . 225

    Reading: Erasmus, “Erasmus Greets Andreas Ammonius, Private Secretary to the King of the English”

    Language Facts: The Irregular Verb Eō; Reflexive Pronoun and Reflexive Possessive Adjective; The Postposition of the Preposition Cum in Such Phrases as Sēcum, Quōcum, etc.

    Talking About a Reading: About an Airplane Trip

    Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—Atticus Tries to Avoid Political Turmoil

CHAPTER 11 . . . . .	245
Reading: Thomas More, “About the Ambassadors of the Anemolians”
Language Facts: Present Active Participle; Use of Participles; Adjectives with the Genitive Singular in -īus and the Dative Singular in -ī
Talking About a Reading: About Our State
Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—Atticus Avoids Holding Office in the Provinces
CHAPTER 12 . . . . .	265
Reading: Juan Ginés de Sepúlveda, “About the New World”
Language Facts: Temporal, Causal, Concessive Clauses; Conditional Clauses
Talking About a Reading: About the First Americans
Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—Atticus and the Civil War
REVIEW 4: CHAPTERS 10–12 . . . . .	285
Considering the Heroes of Classical Myth: The House of Atreus, The House of Labdacus
Connecting with the Post-Ancient World: The New World
Exploring New Worlds: Searching the Globe and the Universe by Edward V. George, Professor of Classics Emeritus, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas
Mirābile Auditū: Ancient Latin Phrases and Proverbs Revived in Humanist Latin and Relevant to the Twenty-First Century
CHAPTER 13 . . . . .	303
Reading: Juan Ginés de Sepúlveda, “A Quarrel between Columbus and His Lieutenants Is Settled”
Language Facts: Ablative Absolute; The Pronouns Īdem, Ipse, Iste
Talking About a Reading: About All People Being Equal
Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—The Assassination of Julius Caesar
CHAPTER 14 . . . . .	323
Reading: Nicolaus Copernicus, “Why the Ancient People Thought That the Earth Was in the Center of the World and Why This Is Not True”
Language Facts: Result Clauses; More Ways to Express Purpose: Supine in -m ; Formation of Adverbs
Talking About a Reading: About Technology
Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—In the Middle of Civil Strife

© Bolchazy-Carducci Publishers, Inc.
www.BOLCHAZY.com

CHAPTER 15 . . . . . 341

    Reading: Ludvig Holberg, “Underground Journey”

    Language Facts: Gerund and Gerundive; Passive Periphrastic and Dative of Agent

    Talking About a Reading: About Space Travel

    Classical Latin: The Life of Cicero’s Best Friend—Mark Antony in Exile While Enemies Prepare to Attack His Family

REVIEW 5: CHAPTERS 13–15 . . . . . 361

    Considering the Heroes of Classical Myth: Aeneas; Romulus and Remus; Horatii and Curiatii; Mucius Scaevola, Cloelia, and Horatius Cocles

    Connecting with the Post-Ancient World: The Scientific Revolution

    Exploring the Development of the Sciences: Autodidacts, Polymaths, and Their Theories by Georgia Irby-Massie, Assistant Professor of Classics, The College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia

    Mirabile Auditū: Early Modern and Medieval Latin Phrases and Terms Relevant to the Twenty-First Century

ADDITIONAL READINGS FROM NEPOS’S LIFE OF ATTICUS . . . . . 386

    1. The People Over Fortune . . . . . 386

    2. The Ship of State . . . . . 392

    3. Skillful Navigation . . . . . 398

    4. Atticus and the Emperor’s Best Friend. . . . . 402

    5. Be It Ever So Humble, There Is No Place Like Home. . . . . 406

    6. Like a True Epicurean . . . . . 412

    7. Atticus and Cicero . . . . . 418

    8. Atticus the Author . . . . . 422

    9. Atticus, Friend of the Emperor . . . . . 426

    10. The Death of Atticus . . . . . 432

APPENDIX A . . . . . 439

    Historical Timeline

APPENDIX B . . . . . 445

    Grammatical Forms and Paradigms

APPENDIX C . . . . . 481

    Latin Syntax

APPENDIX D . . . . . 501

    Supplementary Grammar, Morphology, and Syntax

ENGLISH TO LATIN GLOSSARY . . . . . 523

LATIN TO ENGLISH GLOSSARY . . . . . 537

BIBLIOGRAPHY . . . . . 557

PHOTOGRAPHY CREDITS . . . . . 559

INDEX . . . . . 565

LIST OF MAPS

Map of Post-Ancient Europe. . . . . xxviii

Map of the British Isles . . . . . 7

Map of Columbus’s Four Voyages . . . . . 271

© Bolchazy-Carducci Publishers, Inc.
www.BOLCHAZY.com